JEREZ

*Sherry wine is like the cool, older cousin of regular wine.
Sweet, nutty, or dry, Sherry's got something for everyone's taste buds.
Whether you sip it slowly or use it to spruce up your cooking.
Sherry's versatility is pretty much its superpower.*

VINO FORTIFICADO

Andalusia's array of fortified wines, not your usual Sherry from Jerez, pack a bunch of flavors from all over the region. Think sweet vibes like sun-drenched raisins, nutty twists, and bone-dry elegance. These wines aren't just for sipping—they're culinary sidekicks, making meals extra awesome. With each sip, you're tasting a bit of Andalusian sunshine and history, going beyond the well-known Sherries of Jerez.

VINOS de ESPAÑA

Spain's rich wine heritage spans at least 3,000 years, and it is home to approximately 600 grape varieties, although roughly only 20 of them are utilized in the production of the majority of wines. The Spanish wine industry offers a diverse spectrum of styles and flavors, ranging from light and fruity to bold and opulent. With an impressive 96 Denominaciones de Origen Protegida (DOPs), including 67 Designations of Origin (DO), 19 Vinos de Pago (VP), 2 Denominaciones de Origen Calificadas (DOCa), and 8 Vinos de Calidad (VC), Spain's wine regions showcase a remarkable depth and breadth of quality and character.

Now, if this is all new to you, not to worry; On our list, each wine is curated by region. Each region represents a unique terroir and varieties that work together to produce very special styles and flavors.

If you want to know how the wine is made and who is making it, you will notice some key indicators next to our wines:

{W}

produced from women-owned or women-operated wineries

{O}

made from grapes grown without synthetic chemicals, pesticides or fertilizers

{V}

produced without the use of any animal-derived fining agents or additives

WOMEN in WINE

In honor of Teresa Espinosa Moreno, our namesake at Casa Teresa, we are thrilled to showcase a curation of wines made by incredibly talented women winemakers from Spain. These amazing women have left their mark on winemaking, crafting wines that blend tradition with innovation.

Women have always been major contributors to Spain's winemaking industry, even if they haven't always gotten the credit they deserve. While men have typically been in the winemaking spotlight, women have been quietly calling the shots in the background for ages. Back in medieval times, it was often the women who ran the show when it came to making wine at home, keeping all those secret family recipes alive and kicking.

Things started to change around the late 1800s and early 1900s, as people's views on women's roles began to shift. With industrialization coming into the wine world, more opportunities opened up for women to get involved outside of their family wine productions. As you can assume, they still had to deal with a bunch of old-world thinking and glass ceilings. Despite the odds, women started to make their mark, finally getting recognized for their refined pallet, creativity and hard work.

Fast forward to today, and you've got a whole network of women winemakers in Spain keeping the legacy alive while also blazing new trails.

At Casa Teresa, we have carefully select wines from small, independent producers who put their heart and soul into every bottle. These winemakers are like the guardians of ancient vineyards, creating wines that are all about personality and quality. Each bottle has a story to tell, and we're here to share those stories with you.

Salud!

MARIA LARREA - CVNE

María Larrea is a notable figure in the world of wine, particularly within the renowned CVNE (Compañía Vinícola del Norte de España) winery. With a rich history dating back to the 19th century, CVNE is a prominent Spanish winery, and María Larrea's involvement in its success is remarkable. She has played a pivotal role in preserving the winery's legacy while also embracing innovation to ensure its continued excellence. Under her leadership, CVNE has maintained its commitment to producing high-quality Rioja wines, blending tradition with modern techniques. María Larrea's dedication and expertise have contributed significantly to CVNE's position as a respected name in the wine industry, making her a key figure in the winery's enduring success.
